

VEHICLE MIRROR WITH INTERNAL ILLUMINATION SOURCE AND TRANSMITTING HOUSING

Abstract

The invention relates to an external rear-view mirror with a mirror housing having a light source capable of illuminating various portions of a vehicle and the surrounding area depending upon the operational status of the vehicle. The mirror housing is transparent or translucent to enable the light source to illuminate through the housing.